

// GideonTV to Change the way you watch Christian Television

☰ | Friday, September 28, 2007

GideonTV Network is broadcasting Christian messages worldwide via the internet on users' PC's, mobile devices, and Internet-enabled Television sets. Based in Hampton, VA, GideonTV is committed to spreading the Gospel through the new media-incorporating web 2.0 structural design.

You can watch GideonTV anytime from anywhere in the world by logging onto the website at www.GideonTV.com. With non-stop programming 24 hours a day everyday along with a dedicated staff, viewers can submit prayer requests, chat with other members, sign up to receive updates via their mobile phones, and upload videos at any given time.

Founder of GideonTV Network, David Lomosi, states, "It is estimated that 422 million people will have access to broadband internet service worldwide by 2010; we are positioned to capture this audience as they emerge. GideonTV programming will inspire and empower viewers spiritually. In addition, it is the platform to represent and give voice to the unheard preacher without the costly fee paid to established TV networks."

GideonTV will incorporate other web 2.0 methodologies as the digital media evolves. These tools will help both small and large ministries reach a wider audience and especially capture Generation Xer's with the hope of winning souls to Christ. As IPTV develops, you will be able to watch GideonTV in the comfort of your own living room with the click of your remote.

GideonTV Network is based in Hampton, VA and was launched on July 24 2007. For more information about GideonTV, visit www.gideontv.com.
